WISE LEAVES COURTROOM IN DISGUST

Shows Displeasure When Wire
Men Get Off With Fines.

New York, July 26.—Action of the federal authorities against the various members of the wire pools, some of which were subsidiaries of the steel trust, was practically nullified when Federal Judge Archbald accepted pleas of nolo contendere from the members of the fine magnet wire association and imposed a fine of $1,000 on each of the members.

As soon as the officials of the various concerns recently indicted for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law realized that they would get out of their trouble through the payment of a nominal fine there was a stampede to plead guilty. Twenty of the officers and directors of the rubber-covered wire association also pleaded nolo contendere and were fined.

District Attorney Wise protested against the fines, but was overruled by the court and left the room plainly angered.

Those fined were: F. W. Robeling, secretary and treasury of the Robeling company; Frank A. Newbury, Joseph C. Belden, Newell B. Parsons, Thomas Wallace, Jr., Louis F. Anschultz and Alfred L. Moore.

Ashland, O., July 26.—By the heavy pluviety of 1,122, Ashland county voted dry, 3,586 to 2,464. A vigorous three weeks' campaign by the dries was responsible for the victory. Ashland city went dry by 110.

HARMON IS BIDDING FOR THE WESTERN VOTE FIGHTS IN BRYAN'S STATE

Harmon Has Representative at Nebraska Convention.

NO ONE WILL BE INDORSED

Bryan's Bitter Fight Against Ohio's Governor Is Seized Upon by Ben Chamberlin as Good Opportunity to Secure Influence of Commoner's Enemies For Buckeye Presidential Candidate—Emissary Is Secretary to Senator Pomerene.

Freemont, Neb., July 26.—Refusal of the delegates to the Democratic state convention to indorse a presidential candidate, came as a distinct shock to the adherents of Governor Harmon of Ohio, who sought to take advantage of the strong state opposition to William J. Bryan.

Bryan has come out openly against the Ohio governor, and for that reason Harmon has hopes of getting the support of Bryan's enemies. Ben Chamberlin of Columbus is Harmon's personal representative at the convention. He has been here for a day working quietly among the delegates.

Chamberlin is a wealthy commission man and took an active part in the Pomerene campaign for the senatorship last winter. For a time he acted as Senator Pomerene's secretary. Just how well he has succeeded in lining up delegates for Harmon is not known. The fight between Bryan and Harmon is expected to be close.

DINNER SECRETS OF STEEL TRUST

Witness Says Prices Made For 11
Concerns Over Cigars.

Washington, July 26.—Prices of steel and iron products were discussed at one of the Gary dinners in New York, according to A. F. Huston of Coatesville, Pa., president of the Lukens Iron and Steel company, who appeared as a witness before the steel committee. It was just about the time for the committee to adjourn for the day when Mr. Huston told of price discussions at the Gary dinner in January, 1911, and at a luncheon given by the executive head of the United States Steel corporation on May 4 last.

The evidence given by Mr. Huston and W. C. Moreland of Pittsburgh, secretary of the Jones & Laughlin Steel company, tends to prove, in the opinion of Democratic members of the committee, that the 11 steel and iron companies, among them the Carnegie and other leading concerns in the trade, which were named as parties to the "trust agreement" introduced in evidence, operated for five years, from 1900 to 1905, under an agreement that amounted to a restraint of trade.

Hogan Passes on Portraits.

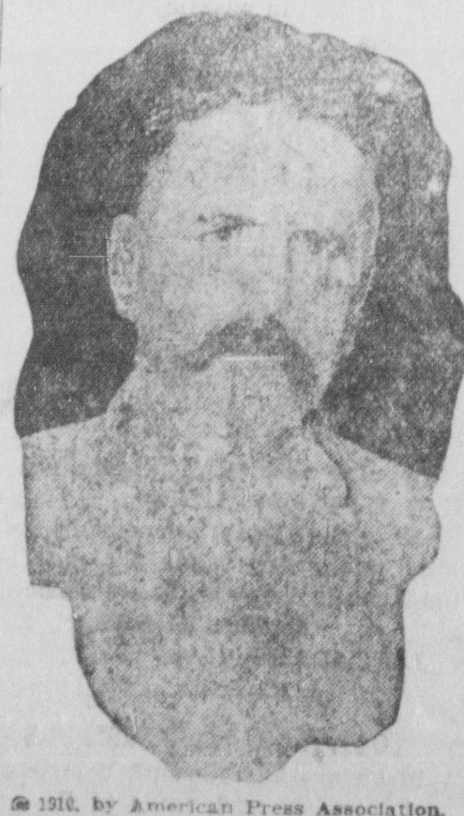

Columbus, O., July 26.—After hearing the testimony of Mrs. Emma Hollingsworth, library attaché involved in the statehouse picture painting case, Attorney General Hogan declared the commonwealth was cheated to the extent of $800 in the transaction. The legislature paid $1,000 for the painting of four portraits of former Ohio governors by Mrs. Hollingsworth and in return received paintings worth $200 says General Hogan.

Dying Wish Granted.

Findlay, O., July 26.—"Please bury me in a white dress in a white casket. I am tired of life. I am miserable and have made my loved ones miserable." This was the note left by Mrs. Louis Routhson when she hanged herself at her home here. The woman's relatives heartbroken at the tragedy will carry out her wishes.

LA FOLLETTE FORCE DISGUSTED

Manager Wires Senator In Washington That Farmers Are Angry Over Passage of Reciprocity Measure and Have Purposely Absented Themselves From Convention—Administration Forces Want Harmony but Are Unwilling to Pay Price.

Lincoln, Neb., July 26.—At the Republican state convention, what promised to be a big fight between the progressive and regular factions of the party in Nebraska did not develop. The regulars, or the Taft men, were in control of the convention by more than 2 to 1.

Resolutions indorsing the administration of President Taft were adopted without any opposition of the insurgents, who were supposed to be lined up for LaFollette. The latter did not even resist the adoption of the resolutions, as they had threatened to do. Resolutions indorsing the Nebraska delegation in congress were also passed.

Reciprocity was not mentioned at the powwow. Gloom reigned in the camp of the LaFollette men. Frank A. Harrison, who is supposed to be looking after the interests of LaFollette in this state, sent the following telegram to Senator LaFollette:

"Federal brigade in control of convention. Small attendance. Farmers disgusted with reciprocity and will not attend. Tell Norris."

Taft supporters were admitted by his opponents to be in control of the Republican convention, which met for organization in the auditorium. In the preliminary bouts this fact was not clearly outlined, but later it was so clearly evident that the opposition centered on a Democrat for only the mildest indorsement of his administration. Considerable difference of opinion existed as to just what was wanted in way of indorsement and just what would be allowed by the opposition without a bitter fight on the floor. Except for the most radical delegates of the two factions, it was agreed that harmony ought to be secured at all costs.

Don't Like the Name.

The radical insurgents, some of whom resent the name, were ready to fight on the floor of the convention for specific indorsement of the administration by name. At a meeting it was agreed that such an effort should be opposed at all hazards. Some of those who attended the meeting said the plan of action was all mapped out early. Less radical opponents of President Taft were willing to lie down if his supporters would agree to offer only general resolutions of commendation.

The Taft men were ready for harmony in big chunks, but were not willing to buy it at the price of silence. Some demanded a specific terse indorsement of the administration in a separate resolution from any other indorsement of the party. They declared that to "point with pride" to the glorious history of the party would not be enough.

Both factions were united on the necessity of avoiding a boost of the candidacy of either Taft or LaFollette or any other candidate; it was also generally agreed that no reference should be made to the reciprocity treaty. Insurgents declared they did not wish to attack the administration. Taft men admitted the president was easily stronger among the farmers than his favorite theme. Now and then a delegate could be found who was ready to spring a resolution in condemnation of the tariff on the floor. This spirit had but little apparent support.

MAKES PERILOUS TRIP

Man Makes Second Voyage Over
Niagara In Barrel.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 26.—Bobby Leach, the Niagara barrel navigator, went over the Horseshoe falls in his steel barrel, the second time that the trip has ever been made. Leach was cast adrift in the Canadian channel and was driven close to the Canadian shore by a high wind. Leach was taken from his barrel 34 minutes after the barrel went over the falls. The only injury he sustained was a broken leg. As he was lifted from the barrel he waved his hand to the crowd that lined the bank.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE EDITOR TELLS HOW HE WAS STUNG LORIMER TRIAL IS STILL ON

SOUGHT BOOKS OF LOBBYISTS

Said Brother of Glavis of Pinchot-Ballinger Controversy Fought to Secure Possession of Documents Alleged to Show That Lorimer and Tawney Took Percentage of Fees Paid For Securing Mail Privileges. Made Probers Laugh.

Washington, July 26.—At the session of the senate committee investigating the election of Senator Lorimer, James Keeley, general manager and editor of the Chicago Tribune, told how his paper had been defrauded out of $750 by George O. Glavis, brother of Louis R. Glavis, formerly field agent of the general land office at Seattle, Wash., and one of the principal witnesses in the Ballinger-Pinchot row.

Mr. Keeley, who was cross-examined by Judge E. G. Haney, counsel for Senator Lorimer, said that Glavis came to him and told him he thought he could purchase the books of a firm of lobbyists which, Glavis said, would show that Senator Lorimer while a member of the house of representatives received 25 per cent of a $2,000 fee for his services before the postoffice department, in obtaining the privilege of the second-class postal rates for the Fire Proof Magazine, a Chicago publication. Glavis also told Mr. Keeley, the latter said, that Former Representative James A. Tawney of Minnesota also was mixed up in the transaction. Mr. Keeley said he advanced Glavis $100 to pay the expenses of locating the documents. Later, Mr. Keeley testified, Glavis informed him he had purchased them for the Tribune, and the sum of $650 was then paid to Mr.

Glavis. But when Mr. Keeley demanded the papers he could not get them, and then swore out a warrant for Glavis' arrest for embezzlement. Glavis was arrested in Chicago and brought to Washington for trial.

"What did you want with these books and papers?" asked Judge Haney.

What He Intended to Do.

"I intended to investigate their accuracy," replied Mr. Keeley. "If they showed evidence of crime, I intended to lay them before the district attorney; and if they showed that Senator Lorimer had been involved, I intended to lay them before this committee which is investigating Mr. Lorimer's election. Later, at the proper time, I intended to print the story."

"Do you know the name of the firm of lobbyists whose books were to be purchased by Glavis?" inquired Judge Haney.

"Glavis said it was the firm of Street & Smith in the receipt which he signed when we gave him the money," answered Mr. Keeley. "That is apparently a fictitious name. I think we were goldbricked, but something has happened since I came to Washington which has made me change my mind a bit. Glavis was too smart for me."

Mr. Keeley's story of how the Tribune had been "stung" was amusing to the members of the committee. Judge Haney and Senator Lorimer, who was listening to the testimony, also laughed at several features of the story. Mr. Keeley at times joined in the laughter.

Mr. Keeley did not explain the occurrence which, he said, recently happened in Washington which made him think he had not been goldbricked.

Texas Lone Star State Is Sure Wet

Prohibitionists, However, Threaten to Contest Several Counties.

Austin, Tex., July 26.—The bare majority of 6,000 votes which the complete unofficial returns show the wets won the statewide prohibition election is to be attacked by a legislative investigation of alleged frauds on the present anti in a number of counties. This much has been determined by the dry leaders.

The whole matter of contesting the election as well as plans for the proposed legislative investigation will be gone over at a meeting of the executive committee of the late prohibition organization to be held in Fort Worth. The pros are in control of both the house and senate by a good majority. The special session of the legislature will convene next Monday.

Diamond, Va., July 26.—Beulah Ford, "the woman in the case" in sensational Beattie murder mystery, has turned against the accused Harry Clay Beattie, Jr., who, she says, was the father of her child two years ago.

Two days ago she declared she had gone to the electric chair herself to save her lover. Detectives brought a letter from C. Dean, New York, following the receipt of the sworn statement which supplies the only missing link in the chain of evidence they have been following.

"I have no compassion for him, no sympathy at all, if he really murdered his wife," she said. "He was always kind to me in his way, and I never said him say a word against his wife."

"Had he ever said anything about trying to kill his wife?" a detective asked.

"He would never have married me," she answered. "He would not have married me if he had known that he was disgracing his family that way."

Harmon, O., July 26.—Mogadore, this city, decided to remain in the dry column, where it has been for two years, and gave a dry majority of 18 in the local election.

OIL STANDS IN WELL NEAR HARPER'S STATION IN HEROD'S CREEK FIELD

Stockholders in the Herod's Creek Oil and Gas Company, owners of the well drilled in at Harper's Station, in Ross county, which was shot Monday afternoon, are greatly pleased over the prospects of a paying well, as the hole now contains from 150 to 200 feet of oil, and has a good pressure of gas.

The well has been capped and a one inch pipe inserted, and the gas from this pipe burns to the height of many feet. The cap will be allowed to remain on the well for several days and when it is removed, the baler will be put to work, and the capacity of the well ascertained. The gas pressure is steadily increasing.

The amount of nitro-glycerine used in shooting the hole was 160 quarts, and the remarkable part about the shooting was that only one stone was lodged in the well, so that the work of drilling it out required but a short time. As a usual result of shooting, the well is clogged with stones and it requires some time to drill them out and get the well in perfect order.

The evidence of oil in the well, whether it be enough to class the hole as a paying one, will result in the further development of the Harper's Station field, and it is believed other companies will get busy within the next few weeks.

By the middle of the next week the producing capacity of the well just shot will be ascertained.

Old Offender Returns Home

Cy Smith, compelled to leave this city some eighteen months ago, came back to this city to make his home the first of the week, but was taken before Mayor Allen and given until this afternoon at 4:05 to get out of the city or pay the old fine standing against him.

Smith's offense was disorderly conduct, and he chose leaving the city rather than pay it, and has since remained away until this week.

COMPLETES NEW HOME.

BIG WATER SOFTENER BEING PLACED AT LAUNDRY CAUSES MUCH SPECULATION

When the Playley transfer wagons came up Court street with an immense steel tank, 8 feet in diameter and 22 feet in length, blocked upon two wagons, a great deal of conjecture was heard as to what the big tank was.

One man said it was a silo; another that it was for the Y. M. C. A.; another was certain it was a hot water plant for the infirmary, but few guessed that it was the big Russell Water Softener to be installed by the Rothrock Laundry.

The immense tank, which will have a capacity of softening 2,000 gallons of water per hour, will be placed in the rear of the laundry, and will resemble a silo or miniature stand-pipe. It will be fully a week before it will be in working order.

CURTIN—LIMES.

A very pretty wedding occurred at the Friends church, New Martinsburg, Ohio, when in the presence of one hundred and fifty guests, Miss Margaret L. Curtin was united in marriage to Mr. Hairs H. Limes. Rev. R. H. Luttrell, pastor of the church, the officiating minister. Miss Ola Knedler played the wedding march, while the bridal party made their way to the altar, artistically decorated in pink and green. Miss Ada Knedler then sang very beautifully, "Oh Promise Me". Attending the young couple were six maids of honor, Misses Willmuth Morris, Hazel Limes, Myrtle Fortier, Marie Morris, Grace and Chloe Fishback. Then came the brides-maid Miss Martha Syferd and Mr. Griffin Wilson acted as best man. The ushers were Mrs. Jessie Leasure, Misses Leona Limes and Garnette Dally. Two little girls, Miss Martha Limes and Miss Lucille Cockerill acted as flower girls and looked very sweet in their dainty gowns of white with pink bows. The maids of honor also wore gowns of white with pink sash, while the bridesmaid wore a gown of pearl gray chiffon over yellow satin. The bride was handsome in a gown of pale blue chiffon satin with bands of white, and wore a long white tulle veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses. The groom wore the conventional black and the best man was dressed in dark blue. The bride is a very beautiful girl and for the past three years has been a successful teacher in the Fayette county schools. Mr. Limes is the son of Chas. Limes of New Martinsburg and has many friends in this city. He being at one time a student in the High school of this place.

They received many useful and elegant presents, showing the high esteem which the young couple were held. All join in wishing them much happiness.

Clerks Locked In Are Much Excited

When Mr. Leo Katz went to the Cherry Hotel for supper Tuesday evening, he locked the store as usual, not thinking for a moment that some of the clerks remained in the store making final arrangements of goods before leaving.

After Mr. Katz had been to the hotel some time he was notified that two of the lady clerks were locked in the store, and were much worried over their imprisonment, as they had been on the upper floor and had to attract the attention of passersby before they were able to locate Mr. Katz. When Mr. Katz learned of the imprisoned clerks he left his supper, climbed into his automobile, went to the store and soon released the two women.

Plumbing and Heating For Union Depot

On Tuesday the B. & O. Ry. Co. entered into a contract with E. T. Evans, of the plumbing department of Dice-Mark Hdw. Co., for plumbing and heating installation in the Union depot. The job will cost not less than $800 and must be complete in 30 days. Steam will be used in heating the building, supplied by a furnace in the basement, where a special concrete room has been constructed, the solid walls of which will keep out the creek water in extremely wet times.

FREE TRIP TO THE OHIO STATE FAIR

A GOOD TIME AND EXPENSES PAID

ONE BOY FROM EACH COUNTY MADE HAPPY

The State Board of Agriculture will invite one boy from each county to be its guest at the Ohio State Fair, August 28 to September 1. Farm boys between the ages of 15 and 20 are eligible to make application. All expense of this trip will be paid by the State Board of Agriculture.

FREE BED AND BOARD.

Each boy must work four hours each day on the Fair grounds, sleep in a tent and eat three meals a day. He must visit every department of the Fair, and write in a note-book the things which most interest him. The State Board of Agriculture desires to emphasize the educational value of the State Fair. The boys can read their notes at Farmer Institutes.

SAFE TRIP.

This will be a safe trip. Permission will be given the boys to visit the Penitentiary and other State institutions. Columbus is an interesting city. Adjutant General Weybrecht will detail some of his best officers of the National Guard to erect State tents, furnish cots, blankets, and look after the comfort and safety of the boys.

LEARN FARMING.

No boy should make application for this honor unless he actually wants to learn more about agriculture. The State Fair costs $100,000 and is worth many times that sum to the farmers of Ohio if they will take advantage of its lessons. The following named persons will select the boy from each county:

PRESIDENTS OF THE FOLLOWING.

County Fair, Farmers' Institute, School Examiners, Teachers' Institute, County Commissioners, all other Farmer Organizations and Picnics, County Sunday Schools and Master of each Grange, Newspaper Editors, and Secretaries of County Fairs.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 19th.

Each of the above persons to have one vote at a meeting to be held at the Court House, Saturday, August 19th, 10 a. m., standard time. Said meeting to select its own president and secretary, who shall certify the name of the boy selected and also the name of a second and third boy as alternates to come in case the first boy cannot attend.

LARGEST SINGLE CONSIGNMENT CARLOAD OF SHOES SHIPPED FROM LOCAL FACTORY

The Hagerty Shoe Company Valued Industry

WITH A SUBSTANTIAL PAYROLL

Averaging Now More Than $250
Per Day.

The P. Hagerty Shoe Company on last week made the largest shipment of shoes ever made from this city. One solid car load was shipped over the B. & O. S. W. to St. Louis, containing about 9,500 pairs of shoes valued at more than $17,000.00. The car lot consisted of about 40 consignments destined for various points in Arkansas, Colorado, Missouri, Kansas, Texas and Oklahoma, which would be delivered in St. Louis by the B. & O. S. W. to the Missouri Pacific, Frisco, Iron Mountain and Wabash Railroad Companies for distribution.

This car was the first shipment made this season, and shipments of shoes for fall and winter service will continue from now on until about the 15th of October, after which time the company will commence the manufacture of oxfords for next spring. At the same time several other large shipments were made to other points and since that time many smaller consignments have been shipped out. Each day from now on until the close of this shipping season, the company will be busy shipping out orders which have been filled at the factory.

The Hagerty Shoe Company has this year manufactured and shipped more shoes than ever in the history of its existence. Through the West and Northwest the patronage which this concern receives is particularly heavy. Indeed it has been so heavy this year that the company was obliged to have its traveling men stop taking orders. Some of the largest and finest shoe stores throughout the West make a special drive on The Hagerty Shoe. The one carload shipment made last week contained more than enough shoes to provide every man, woman and child in this city with a pair.

Never in the factory's history have shipments been so heavy this early in the year. The pay roll of this factory is now running more than $250 per day. A concern of this magnitude is certainly a great benefit to local merchants.

FRANK L. STUTSON

In Social Circles

The engagement of Miss Hortense Morris to Mr. Raymond Scott, both of Bloomingburg, was made public at a meeting of the Embroidery club at the home of Mrs. Allen West, Wednesday.

Both young people are highly respected wherever known. Mr. Scott being engaged in the general store of Scott Brothers, of Bloomingburg.

The gods smiled benignly Tuesday afternoon upon an extremely pretty announcement party, at which Mrs. J. M. Baker, stealing a complete march upon the guests, announced the engagement of her sister, Miss Edith Harsha to Mr. Clarence Stuart Frazer, of Xenia.

A Baker's dozen of Miss Harsha's most intimate friends had responded to invitations issued for a Kensington, in compliment to her guest, Mrs. Earl Eavey, of Xenia. All unaware they were invited to the dining room where a tea table was a thing of beauty, with an immense mound of pink and white sweet peas, edged with fern and tiny clusters of sweet peas with ribbons extending to the edge of the table. Each guest drew a ribbon and attached to her boutonniere was a card bearing the announcement. Attached to the bouquet of the bride-elect was her engagement ring, a magnificent solitaire.

The drawing of the cards was the signal for a shower, exclamations and good wishes to Miss Harsha who was looking exceedingly pretty in a white lingerie gown and responded to felicitations with becoming blushes.

The entire affair was marked by exquisite appointments. In the tea room an elaborate luncheon was served and all decorations in the pink and white American Beauties graced the reception room.

The guests included Mrs. Earl Eavey, Xenia; Miss Lackey, Louisa, Ky.; Mesdames W. W. Davies, T. H. Craig, D. S. Craig, J. M. Willis, Geo. Haynes, Ralph Young, Earl Barnett, Earl Cockerill, Misses Anne Quinn, Amy Conn, Lina Willis.

The wedding will be an event of the fall.

Withal that this announcement means the loss to Washington's educational interests of a capable instructor, Miss Harsha having been a very successful High school teacher for several years, to its social circles of a charming girl and to its musical life, a helpful member, the future bride is receiving good wishes galore.

Mr. Frazer is a sterling young business man of Xenia, belonging to one of the old families and is well known in Washington society.

Cooking Green Peas.
Put your green peas, pods and all, into the kettle and cook them the usual length of time. When they are done the pods will break and rise to the surface, while the peas may be found at the bottom of the kettle. They have a finer flavor cooked in this way.—National Magazine.

HOW BEAUTY

IS CULTIVATED

THE REASON SO many beauty seekers become discouraged by lack of results is that they pay too much attention to one point and not enough to another.

Take, for example, the girl who is an admirer of a beautiful complexion. She scans the beauty magazines for complexion remedies, skin lotions, preventatives and cures for every facial blemish under the shining sun. The result is that she fails to notice the condition of her hair, her hands or her teeth, and even though her complexion may become as the lily and rose she will be dissatisfied with the ensemble and will ascribe the deficiency to the remedies applied, rather than to her own neglect. Her complexion might be as radiant as a summer morning and as transparent as the gossamer mists that hang over the fields with the awakening of the sun, yet if her teeth were discolored she would have to speak but three words when the illusion of beauty would be destroyed. There must be concentrated effort on the part of the woman who wishes to improve her looks.

Another mistake in general practice is to groom the hair and face faultlessly and forget the existence of the hands and feet. To take a pair of smart new gloves and disclose broken, ill-kept nails is giving away a secret any thoughtful observer can penetrate. By the same token, a pair of runover, shabby, scuffed shoes seldom hide two well conditioned feet.

Not only must the least attractive feature of the beauty seeker be nurtured and coaxed into form, but the best features must be accentuated. The woman wise in the ways of beauty lore takes advantage of every possible opportunity to heighten effects and when she strives for results she does not sit down at her dressing table and consider the question from the waist up, but she stands before a long mirror and takes in every detail. One feature is quite as important as another in beauty cultivation, all being worthy of the best efforts.

Cheap Fence

An easy way to make a fence (with an outlay of only 10 cents) to keep your neighbors' chickens and dogs, etc., off your garden and lawn is: Get 10 cents' worth of Siberian sunflower seed in any seed store and dig up the ground the width of a spade, as long as you want it, then put in your seed about three inches apart in the row. In a short time you will have a strong and good looking fence.

Raspberry Jam

Crush the raspberries and allow a pound of sugar to a pound of fruit, boil twenty minutes. A few currants added to raspberry jam is considered a great improvement. Remember the best sugar is the cheapest in the end. It is poor economy to stint either in quality or quantity. Inferior sugar is wasted in scum and the preserves will not keep well unless a sufficient amount of sugar is used, but also remember too much sugar is bad, as it destroys the natural flavor of the fruit and it is likely to make fruit candy rather than preserves.

The best proportion in making preserves is a pound of sugar to a pound of fruit. There are a few fruits that require more sugar.

NEVER AGAIN.

"Of course," said the surgeon who had operated for appendicitis, "there will be a scar."
"That's all right," replied the patient. "Leave any kind of a mark you like that will prevent some strange doctor from coming along and operating again."

THE USE OF IT ALL.

Aside from the possible use in naval maneuvers, such as harbor defenses and scouting expeditions with a view to discovering the strength of harbor fortifications of a port sought to be attacked or sent from a harbor threatened with attack to ascertain the character and number of an attacking squadron, another possible practical use has been suggested for the aeroplane by Major Frank A. Fenn, supervisor of the Selway national forest, embracing 1,600,000 acres formerly part of an Indian reservation in northern Idaho, who predicts that the time is not far distant when aeroplanes and wireless telegraphy will be important factors in protecting timbered lands in the Pacific slope country. A man in a flying machine could do more accurate and extensive survey work in the mountains in a few hours, he believes, than is usually accomplished by 20 rangers in a week when fires are raging in the rough country, and with wireless stations installed on the high peaks, he adds, it would be a comparatively easy task to assemble men and apparatus at convenient points to extinguish the flames and prevent spreading. Several hundred miles of telephone lines have been constructed this season to protect the forest and one big timber holding concern is making experiments with motorcycles in northern Idaho. So far this season there has been no serious fires in any of the Northwestern forests.

The latest suggestion of use sounds much more probable of practical accomplishment than any yet made.

At the same time it furnishes an answer to the question—"What's the use?"—so frequently asked by those who could see no practical good in the demonstrations of man's ability to fly and consequently have insisted from the beginning that no practical good could ever come of these experiments. The gymnasts of the air, and that term the majority of people have particularly applied to the aviators, have been regarded ever since their coming as entertainers only.

A great majority of the people have refused to believe that any thing of practical use could ever be made of the aeroplane.

But time in the changes of conditions, which it works with such precise regularity always in the end provides a use for perfected experiments no matter how useless they may seem at the time of their occurrence, for the product of man's brain, man's energy and man's physical efforts never goes for naught.

The latest suggestion proves that man's efforts with the flying machine are no exception to that rule and that man's changed condition bound to come with time, will furnish the need for the result of his tireless efforts.

All of which should teach us that it is not wise to reach an irrevocable conclusion with our puny means of comprehension that this, that or the other is a fool performance and cannot possibly result in any good.

We, none of us, know why certain men are created with, what to some of us appear, freakish notions because long years of experience and thousands of pages of history have taught us that nature has use for everything and a purpose for every kind of man.

Why do men persist in doing things we cannot see the good purpose in?

We do not know. They are made to do those very things and nature has a purpose in constructing them along the lines which appear to us to render them useless in the world.

Sooner or later that purpose is manifested. May be not, indeed frequently not, in the life time of the man who "wastes" his time in apparently foolish experiments, but all in due time the revelations of nature's purpose comes.

Model
City of South
AfricaBy WILLIAM HINDS
of Johannesburg

In all the years that I have lived in South Africa I have never known a case where our public officials were suspected of corruption. We don't know the meaning of the word graft as you use it in the United States.

With us a "grafter" is a man of great energy—one who accomplishes things.

We have a mayor and councilors in Johannesburg, but they serve for the honor of their office and to promote the public good.

No man connected with our local municipal government in any important capacity gets a salary.

Times are dreadfully slow with us, but the outlook is for improvement.

Your slump in the United States had its effect even in our remote part of the world and helped aggravate our bad situation.

The diamond mines of Kimberly, which have the United States as their best customer, closed down on the bigger part of their operations.

Our gold mines are still producing heavily, but while they give employment to many they do little to create a general prosperity.

POETRY
FOR TODAY

I AM SO BLEST.

I am so blest with the riches of love,
The beauty of earth and the skies above,

The beautiful river that brims and bends,

And the cheer of friends.

Often I sing for the joy of it all,
Joy of the roses that crimson the wall

Joy of the sun going red to his rest—
I am so blest.

I am so blest with the winds that race

Over and over the reach of space,

Over and over, and bring to me
The smell of the sea.

Often I sing for the woods apart,

Sing for the happiness in my heart,

Sing for the treasures here possessed
I am so blest.

I am so blest with the spirit of night,

The sweet-singing stars with their wonderful light,

The music of waters deep-droned on the ear,

And the miracles here.

Often I sing for the vision that sees
God in his glory revealed in the trees,

God in the river, and God in the West—

I am so blest.

Remodeling Men
Her Life Duty

Just Because She Loves
Him She Tries to Make Him Different.

IF THE OLD STORY about the hen that cackled, clucked and flopped and threw herself into what these days would be fashionably called "nervous prostration" because the little ducks she had hatched went swimming were made to suit human conditions she did not cluck and cackle and flop when the little ducks swam off, saying all this windmill emotion in which females are prone to indulge, for the moment when she saw the little drakes step into the water.

For those of the sex of the hen are always satisfied to let those of their own sex go as nature intended. Their mission on the bank is to correct anything in the male sex which doesn't meet with their approval.

A woman doesn't approve of what a man eats nor the way he eats it. She reads the latest novel, mistaking what is latest for best, and looks on him as one who is not well read because in his rare moments for reading he reads the good and the old. She turns to the society news in her paper, and he turns to the sports in his, and largely because of his preference she classes all sports under the heading of vulgarity.

Because she prefers a dough-faced Madonna to his duck hunting scene, she believes she has a higher sense of the artistic, which is strengthened when he makes fun of her kind of poetry and laughs at sandwiches tied up in ribbon.

It is she who makes the barefoot dance both possible and permissible, and waits at his blindness to the grace and beauty of motion when he says the bare human foot wouldn't look good if each toe were bound around with a bow of baby blue ribbon.

The colors in a tree appeal to her and the lumber in it appeals to him, and all the clucking, cackling and flopping in the world won't change him.

She is chagrined because he is awkward in society, forgetting that the awkward man in society is usually the thoroughbred in business.

She demands that he be an ideal host, though she knows he would rather eat alone at the kitchen table than preside at the most bountiful meal if company is there, and calls this dislike to dissemble cordiality as "boorishness" and "inhospitality."

She reverses the chaffing dish, and believes he lacks all social grace because he has a higher regard for its Cinderella sister, the frying pan.

He remains fond of the friends he enjoyed when his income was half what it is, and because of this fondness she charges him with lacking social ambition.

He hates crocheted things and she knows it, but the day he tells her of his love she gets out a crochet needle and begins something for him, and this crochet needle is in evidence the rest of his life.

He remains to the end very much as the Lord made him, and to the end of the chapter she nags and pinches, and moulds, and touches him up here and there trying to make him over.

Why? Because she is firmly of the opinion that if she doesn't stand on the bank and cluck and cackle and flop her wings he will get drowned.

And she does all this because she "loves" him.

Always Prepared for Unexpected Guests

We live some distance from the city, thus cannot "run out" to make extra purchases. In order to be prepared for the unexpected guests I have set aside a little cupboard in which I keep pickled meats, vegetables, nuts, raisins, canned soups, etc. Also a few jars of each kind of pickle, preserve, and jam, several glasses of each kind or jelly. There is always a nice cake and some cookies.

This cupboard is never called upon to furnish food for our regular meals. It reigns supreme as an "extra" in this way my mind is at rest; guests may arrive without warning, or one may have little "feasts" after the theater without interfering with the ordinary household routine.

Since seeing the despair, the hustle, and worry of my neighbors, I view my little cupboard with increasing satisfaction, and think others might like to give my idea a trial.—Harper's Bazar.

Bride's Cake

One scant cupful of butter, three cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of milk, whites of twelve eggs, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one cupful of cornstarch, three cupfuls of flour, one-quarter teaspoonful of salt, cream, butter, and sugar. Mix flour, baking powder, and cornstarch and add alternately with milk and whipped whites. Flavor with vanilla or almond extract and bake in loaf tin lined with four thicknesses of paper. Have oven moderate.

Raspberry Frosting

Crush one cup of raspberries, add one-third cup of sugar, and let stand an hour or more then pass through a sieve; add a tablespoonful of lemon juice and enough confectioners' sugar to make a paste that will spread and remain on the cake. Or strawberries may be used instead of raspberries.

Cannon Balls

Bake a loaf of dark spice cake in a deep square pan. When cold, cut into three inch cubes, then trim the corners to make round balls. Ice twice with a rather stiff chocolate icing, and when thoroughly dry pile on a platter, "cannon ball" fashion, and decorate with tiny flags.

Slippers For Soldiers.

The term "a warrior in dressing gown and slippers" used to be deemed one of opprobrium, but it can no longer be so, at least in France, where the ministry of war has equipped the French cavalry with felt slippers as a part of the field kit. Perhaps the dressing gown will come later. The French war office has, it is said, proved by experiment that nothing rests the soldiers so quickly after a hard drill as to take off their boots and go about in loose slippers.—Harper's Weekly.

Electricity in the Air.

We have a comparatively new trouble with our teeth in which the teeth loosen in the jaw without apparent cause and drop out, leaving the dentist in mystery. In these recent years the general tendency toward baldness has been marked as unusually apparent. Are the electric waves used night and day in wireless telegraphy a cause? Professor Hensingmuller suspects they may be. The effect of electrolysis is marked as it escapes from the cables of a power station. He says that in the sending of a wireless message only one mile that portion of the electrical energy used is only one three-hundred-millionths of the energy expended. The rest goes into the air.—Chicago Tribune.

EVERYBODY'S
BIBLE QUESTION
Box

YOUR BIBLE QUESTIONS WILL BE ANSWERED IN THESE COLUMNS, OR BY MAIL IF SENT TO THE EDITOR OF THIS JOURNAL

Q.—Who are the "other sheep" * * * which are not of this fold," mentioned in John x, 16?

Answer.—During the Gospel Age the Lord has but one Church, one flock of sheep who follow Him. "My sheep hear My voice, and I know them, and they follow Me" (John x, 27). From the very first there has been no change in the Lord's flock, neither in the terms of discipleship nor in the reward promised, as we read, "Ye are called in one hope of your calling" (Ephesians iv, 4).

The "other sheep" evidently refer to others who will become the Lord's followers under different conditions and under a different call from that which has gone forth during the Gospel Age. The members of the present flock are called upon to sacrifice the earthly nature, and become partakers, with the Master and Shepherd, of the divine nature (Romans xii, 1, 2; II Timothy ii, 11, 12; II Peter i, 3, 4).

These "other sheep" are particularly mentioned by our Master in Matthew xxv, 31-46. This parable of the sheep and the goats belongs not to this Age, the Gospel Age, but to the coming Age of the Messiah. The introduction of the parable (verse 31) shows this, saying, "When the Son of man shall come in His glory," etc. The Savior has not yet appeared in His glory, and the promise is, that "When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye (the Church, the sheep of the present Age) also appear with Him in glory" (Colossians iii, 4); and then his work of dealing with the world of mankind will begin. Then all mankind will be on judgment or trial, to be tested, with a view to prove who will develop the sheep-like (obedient) disposition and who will develop the goat-like (disobedient) disposition.

Tells Wild Tale Of Kidnaping

Lillian Graham Turns Up In Poughkeepsie Hotel.

New York, July 26.—Lillian Graham, of the singing and dancing team of Graham and Conrad, that won an engagement at Hammerstein's by shooting W. E. D. Stokes in the legs, and who dropped out of sight last Saturday night, just when the show needed a little advertising, was found at Poughkeepsie in the Morgan House.

After inquiring if any reporters were snooping around, Miss Graham told Chief of Police Charles McCabe that she had been kidnaped and that her dreadful experience had left her so bewildered and upset that she didn't think about coming back to New York or telegraphing her friends.

Paymaster Is Attacked. Wins Fight

After Being Shot Teamster Puts Four Bandits to Flight.

Steuenville, O., July 26.—Four foreigners, armed with shotguns, attempted to hold up W. H. Worker, paymaster of the Glen Rock Coal company, as he was driving with $7,000 from this city to No. 2 mine at Rush run to pay off the miners. The robbers ambushed Worker a mile from Rush run. When he refused to stop on their command they opened fire. Worker was wounded in the hip and the horse was shot. John Trapp, a teamster, coming along the road, fired on the robbers, who fled without getting the money. A posse is searching the hills for them.

Clericals Are Active In Mexico

Will Oppose Madero In Mexican Presidential Campaign.

Monterey, Mexico, July 26.—The Clerical party, which had little force during the Diaz administration, is suddenly taking on national prominence. Much significance is attached to the announcement that the national convention of this party will be held in the capitol the second week in August, for the purpose of nominating candidates for president and vice president to run against Madero and Gomez.

The clergy has wonderful control over masses of the people of the country, and if they exercise this power to bring the support of the parishioner to any candidate, the party will win the election.

That his decision might be reversed by President Taft, Secretary Wilson indicated was his expectation.

Frenchmen Are Leading In Contest

English Aviation Contest Narrows Down to Two.

Manchester, England, July 26.—The two whirlwind French aviators, Henri Beaumont, naval lieutenant, and Jules Vedrines, completed the third stage of the English $50,000 aeroplanes race when they sailed into Manchester.

They are having a neck-and-neck struggle for supremacy, the others in the 1,010-mile flight being completely distanced. Beaumont is leading by a narrow margin. The pair flew 383 miles, starting from Edinburgh, sailing across the Scotch mountains to Stirling and Glasgow, and then down through England to Manchester.

C. T. Weymann the only American competitor, who has had hard luck from the start, had further trouble.

ABOUT VEILS.

An effective way of securing an ordinary face veil is to loosen the barrette, which is worn in the back of the hair, and catch the pin or fastener through the veil, and then the hair, and again through the veil, thus preventing the sagging of the veil under the chin which looks so ugly and yet is such a common sight.

Lace veils are very fashionable just now, particularly white lace ones, which the present rage for white millinery seems to call for. These can be obtained in a washing variety, while there is a wonderful choice of gossamer silk lace veils, those in champagne color being very attractive.

Grieves Barred From Board.

Columbus, O., July 26.—W. A. Grieves, Republican, appointed as one of three members of the new state board of workingmen's liability awards, is likely to be barred from service. Discovery has been made that Mr. Grieves is not a naturalized citizen. He was born in Canada. Although he came to America 12 years ago, he made application for naturalization papers only last December. He won't be a citizen until 1913. The constitution says that no person is eligible to office, appointive or elective, unless he possesses the qualifications of an elector.

Pick Gladden as Chairman.

Columbus, O., July 26.—Rev. Dr. Washington Gladden was chosen as chairman of the united constitution committee of Franklin county at a meeting of representatives of various municipal, commercial and church organizations. The committee will discuss questions proposed for the constitution and endorse three candidates, one representing labor, another business and a third farming interests.

Breaks Jail; Robs Store.

Cardington, O., July 26.—The C. H. Farrington store was broken into and $15 taken. David Yake confessed to the theft. Yake has been confined to the county jail for several months on a charge of forgery. A few days ago he sawed his way out of jail, and since has been hiding in the country and sleeping in barns.

Wrath Haunts Woman.

Coshocton, O., July 26.—Walter Carnes and wife left their home and are camping on the river bank for the rest of the summer because they declare Mrs. Carnes is being haunted by the ghost of her former husband, Simon Fisher. Five members of the family attend the truth of the story.

Bomb Explodes Under Car.

Cincinnati, O., July 26.—An infernal machine, filled with blackshot and operated by clockwork, exploded on an East End car here, seriously injuring the motorman and wrecking the front of the car.

Willing to Run.

Washington, July 26.—That he would not run away from the Democratic gubernatorial nomination was all that Representative Matt R. Denver of Ohio would say on his return to Washington in regard to his boom for the Ohio governorship.

Body Found on Beach.

New York, July 26.—The body of Alexander J. Schen, former town attorney of West Hoboken, was found on the beach at the foot of Oriental avenue, Bell Harbor, Rockaway. The police and coroner agree that the death was a suicide.

IN PORCUPINE COUNTRY DETAIL OF FOREST FIRE LOCAL MAN'S ESCAPE

The following letter written by Mr. Homer Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Gibson, gives a wonderfully graphic idea of the horrors of the forest fires which recently devastated Northern Ontario.

Mr. Gibson is engaged in the mining business in the Porcupine country, about 500 miles north of Toronto, and was in the heart of the conflagration.

Many Fayette county friends will regret to learn of his loss of property through the fire, but are greatly relieved to know that he escaped with his life uninjured.

Porcupine, Ont., July 13.

"I will not attempt to describe what we, in this country, have passed through, but will say that fires have been running all through this country during the past week. They threatened the town all day Sunday. On Monday things did not look so bad, but on Tuesday a high wind arose and at noon dense clouds of black smoke were rolling over the country from the southwest, and it began to look pretty serious, but even then we did not know how bad it really was.

About 1 o'clock we heard the Dome whistles blowing distress signals for a short time, then everything was still out there, but we saw that it would soon be necessary to get out of here if the wind continued to blow. We packed everything we could from the office and store house in a trench and covered it with dirt, but before we could get nearly through we had to run for the lake. There were five of us got in our canoe to get away. There were hundreds of people in the lake as far as they could go, and the dock was jammed as tight as it could hold, in fact people coming from the shore kept pushing those on the dock into the water. Some of the boys wanted to start across the lake in the canoe, but there was such a sea running that I knew we would never get across, and the only thing to do was to stay close enough to shore for us to stand on the bottom and hold on to the canoe, so all of us piled out and hung on with the smoke and flames sweeping right over us. Well we were in that position from about half-past one until nearly half-past four and you can imagine we were about all in when we were able to get on the shore after the fire swept past us. No doubt the papers will tell you something of the terrible loss of life, but it will be days or

Sabina Youth Faces Bad Charge

Harley Suttles, said to live in Sabina, was placed under arrest in Clinton county a few days ago charged with assault of a young woman of Sabina.

Suttles was taken to the county jail in Wilmington, and will be tried this week. The affair has created a sensation in Sabina, as the young woman in the case is said to be prominent in that town.

Mushroom Recipes

The warm spring rains bring forth the appetizing and healthful mushrooms and also bring forth its unhealthful cousin, the toadstool. In gathering mushrooms I take no chances, if a specimen looks stained, spotted or old or doubtful in any way, I reject it, even if it meets the mushroom's requirements. The only ones I gather (and I have survived a half century of mushroom banquets) are those having flat or slightly conical caps with thin edges, and white or putty colored on top and a delicate chocolate color underneath—this last condition is imperative. Equally toothsome and safer for it has no unpleasant relatives is the moril. It grows only in oak openings, is dome shaped, full of small holes like a sponge, and of a pale yellow or brownish color. Both mushrooms and morils should be soaked in slightly salted water an hour or two to draw out insects, then drained, wiped dry and sautéed in butter and served either plain or with cream sauce, they are a "dish fit to set before a king." Here are some recipes for those who wish more elaborate ways of serving them.

Beefsteak and Mushrooms—Select a steak at least two and one-half inches in thickness. Broil over a clear fire until rare, then season plentifully with creamed butter, salt, a little lemon juice, and a pinch of mace. Place on a hot platter or in a heated casserole and arrange over the top a layer of large mushrooms that have been peeled and steeped in butter for ten minutes. Season with salt and lemon juice, then place under the broiling flame five minutes.

If desired a second and even a third layer of buttered and seasoned mushrooms may be added, each layer receiving its broiling in turn. In this way the essence of the mushrooms becomes concentrated in the steak. Serve with baked Irish potatoes or grilled sweet potatoes.

Mushroom Sauce made from Stems—The stems cut from mushrooms can be utilized in a delicious sauce for beefsteak. For this they may be simply fried in butter or sprinkled with salt, broiled, then broken in pieces and stirred in a cupful of hot cream and seasoned with salt and pepper.

Macaroni and Mushrooms—Four ounces macaroni, four large mushrooms, two large tomatoes, three tablespoons butter, one-half cup thin brown sauce, seasoning of salt, pepper, paprika. Boil the macaroni in plenty of salted water twenty minutes, drain and cut in small pieces then toss it in one tablespoon of the butter over the fire adding the seasoning of salt, etc. Slice the tomatoes thickly and cook until heated through in the rest of the butter, take them out and keep hot and sauté the mushrooms in the same butter until soft; season both vegetables lightly. Arrange macaroni in a straight line down the center of a hot dish. On the top lay alternately a mushroom and a tomato slice and strain the sauce around.

Scalloped Mushrooms—Cover the bottom of a buttered baking dish with a layer of dry bread crumbs, sprinkle over with pepper and salt and stick bits of butter all over the crumbs, then moisten with cream. Place a layer of mushrooms, alternately with the bread until the dish is full. Cover with bits of butter pour over a pint of cream, cover it keep the flavor and bake one hour, remove top and let brown.

Creamed Mushrooms—To cook mushrooms easily and deliciously stem them and cut in thick slices. For every pound allow two table spoons of butter. When the butter bubbles in a sauce pan over the fire turn the mushrooms in, season with salt and pepper, cover and simmer for five minutes.

Meantime put smooth a scant level tablespoon of flour in a little cold milk, add half a cupful of cream, and turn into the pan with the mushrooms. Serve as soon as the cream is heated.

Note—As a further test of safety always use a silver knife in preparing mushrooms, as they will not discolor silver, but other fungi will.

"Why do they call Washington the city of magnificent distances?" "Because," answered the office seeker, "it is such a long way between what you go after and what you get."

TAKEN AT HIS WORD.

Policeman—You've been begging. Now you just accompany me. Organ Grinder—With pleasure, sir. What song would you like?

Geris is funny. Little geris are not so funny, because I no a little girl and shes no funnier than anybody else, if shes as funny, but the older they get the funnier they get and the nadder they get when you tell them how funny they are.

My sister Sue is 20 years old, but won't tell anybody. Mr. Tomkins is Sue's fellow, and when he's in the parer and anybody says anything about how old Sue is, evrybody lafs, but nobody tells him shes 20 years old, wich she is. If I was Mr. Tomkins I'd get mad and say, Well, if you wont tell me how old you are I no other geris that will, and go hoam.

Wy dont you want Mr. Tomkins to no yure 20 years old, I sed to Sue, its no discrease, is it.

I shoold say not, wie sed, but none of the geris tells there ages, so wy shoold I.

If the other geris jumped in the fire, wood you? I sed, wich is wat she sed to me wen I say I do sumthing bekaus the other boys do it. Im 9 years old, I sed, and I don't care who noa it, Mr. Tomkins or anybody else, and if they dont like it they no so wat they can do, I sed.

O hush, Sue sed, I nevir herd a litle boy tawk so much in awi my life.

O is that so, I sed.

Yes, that's so, sed Sue.

O is that so, I sed, bekaus if you say anything like that to Sue she snuff times she gets mad and chasiz you wic, is fun, bekaus beeing a gerl she cant run werth a cent and she couldnt catch you if she ran awl day and nie and awl the necker day.

My sister also shows how funny she is by putting puffs and things on her hed, altho she is as so much haw wich is neely growing from her hed that she could be a advertisement for a hare kumpany if she wanted to.

If I had a mutch hare as wat youve got I sed to her, tak sum off insted of putting moar on. Enyhow, I sed, if you think it looks bewtiful, I dont, whether you think it does or not, bekaus awl those puffs, looks jest like neapumint kandy; and if I was Mr. Tomkins I'd want to take a bite out of them awl the time, I sed.

O dry up, sed Sue, wich is not very nice langwidge for a gerl to uze.

Pond Lily Cake

Whites four eggs beaten stiff, one cup butter, one and one-half cups sugar, one and one-half plus of flour sifted, one cup sweet milk, one and one-half teaspoonful baking powder, one teaspoonful lemon extract. Mix as follows: Cream the butter and sugar and add the beaten whites, the yolks being reserved for the icing. Add the milk, flour, baking powder, and extract. Beat well and bake in layers.

Icing—The yolks of the four eggs that were left from the whites. Beat the four egg yolks stiff and add one cupful of powdered sugar, one teaspoonful of lemon extract. Beat all well and ice the cake.

Salem Muffins

One and one-half cupfuls of flour, one-half cupful of cornmeal, one teaspoonful of sugar, half a teaspoonful of salt, one heaping teaspoonful of baking powder, one level tablespoonful of butter, two eggs, one cupful of milk, half a teaspoonful of cinnamon. Sift together flour, cornmeal, salt, sugar, and baking powder; rub it in the butter, add the eggs well beaten, milk and cinnamon. Have the griddle heated, grease it, lay it on the muffin rings, also greased, and half fill them with the batter. As soon as risen to the top of rings turn them over gently with cake turner; bake a nice brown on both sides.

Iced Tea
One of the most delightful drinks to serve in the afternoon is iced tea. And I have never found a better way of making it than the following: Have the water barely warm, pour it over the tea and let it stand at least twelve hours. Tea made in this way has a beautiful color and a delicious perfumed flavor that can be obtained no other way.

Caramel Lemonade
Put a pound of granulated sugar into frying pan, stir constantly until it browns and becomes liquid, add pint water, cover and cook slowly until it is all dissolved. Bottle for future use. When desired sweeten lemonade with this sirup to obtain a new and delicious beverage.

Fruit Punch
One quart each of canned pine apple, red raspberry, and sour cherry juice, added to a strong lemonade add one pint of strong black tea and crushed ice; when serving fill glasses one-fourth with the best brand of ginger ale.

Curried Bananas
Let one cupful each of grated coconut and sweet milk soak together for an hour. Peel and cut in lengthwise halves three green bananas and fry faintly brown in two tablespoonfuls of hot butter in which one tablespoonful of curry powder has previously simmered. Remove the bananas to a heated chop plate and pour into the pan the coconut flavored milk. Add one teaspoonful each of Worcestershire sauce and anchovy essence and a dusting of salt and cayenne. Boil up once, remove from fire. Boil up once, remove from fire, and whip rapidly into a well beaten egg. Garnish the bananas with rice balls and serve the sauce in a bowl.

Potato Salad
Slice potatoes left over from meal-time, add a little salt and pepper, one onion cut up in small pieces, one-quarter teaspoonful of sugar, celery cut in small pieces when in season, when not add one-quarter teaspoonful celery salt, one teaspoonful best olive oil, one thick slice of bacon fried until all the fat is out of it, remove bacon add vinegar while pot is hot; also add a little water; pour over salad while warm; add one fresh egg; stir up well; hard boiled eggs may be added if desired.

Nut Balls
One cupful cold chopped veal, twelve chopped blanched almonds, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one egg, pepper to taste, and one cupful of tomato sauce. Mix the meat, almonds, and seasoning and moisten with the well beaten egg. Roll into balls the size of a walnut and set in a baking pan. Pour over them the hot tomato sauce. Cook in a hot oven twenty minutes. Serve on a platter garnished with water cress.

HOT DUMPLINGS—Scald a pint of milk and melt in it one tablespoonful of sugar, one large tablespoonful of shortening and a teaspoonful of salt. When lukewarm add a half yeast cake dissolved in a little warm water and sufficient flour to make a soft dough. Knead lightly for five minutes then put in a bowl, cover and keep warm until the dough is very light and puffy. Divide in small biscuits and let stand for about fifteen minutes or until they begin to rise nicely again. Drop into a kettle partly filled with boiling water, cover and keep at a gentle boil for twenty minutes. Skim out and serve with rhubarb sauce. These dumplings can also be steamed if preferred. They are extremely good.

KEEP HOUSE COOL; IT CAN BE DONE
Modern Housewives Have Learned the Science—Start In Morning.

In this hot weather the good housewife realizes that everything must be done to keep the house as cool as possible, and she has learned to do it scientifically. She tries out the whole place before the sun is high, and then closes it up for the day, thus securely keeping in the cool air of early morning. The shutters in the blinds should be shut tight on the sunny side, but left partly open on the others to admit stray breezes. Toward evening all the blinds should be flung open again. Housewives who have not found this plan satisfactory probably neglect to close the blinds until the sun has heated the atmosphere. Or they may have failed to ventilate sufficiently in the morning. If every window in the house had been thrown wide open so that every room was filled with the cool, pure, dry air of early morning, and if the blinds had been closed before the sun became hot, the house, instead of being stuffy, would have seemed like a cool, refreshing retreat to any one coming in from the tropical outdoor air at noonday.

It is easy enough to keep a cool cellar throughout the summer if the windows in it are opened all night and closed all day. With a grating over each window there will be no trouble from prowling cats and other nuisances.

Nowhere is coolness more important than in the bedrooms, for in a hot, close room it is impossible to sleep. The bedrooms in many country places, particularly tiny frame cottages and rambling, old-fashioned houses, have low ceilings that are close under the attic or the roof, while often the windows are not arranged so that there is a good circulation of air. If the roof is tiled it makes all the bedrooms directly beneath it particularly uncomfortable.

As an attic, if not properly ventilated, retains the heat after the sun has gone down, it should be built with opposite windows, so that a current of air may pass through its whole length over the bedroom ceiling. When all or part of a bedroom ceiling rests directly against a sloping roof, as is often the case, it should be lined with a non-conducting material. Of course, ideal frame houses have a non-conducting layer that helps to shut out heat in summer and cold in winter.

The one and only room which should not be closed in the heat of the day is the kitchen, if one is burning wood or coal.

Ice Tea Always Fresh With But Little Ice

Persons who like iced tea for a summer drink often hesitate to have it because of the quantity of ice required to cool hot tea and they do not think it is fit to drink unless it is freshly made. A professional cook offers the following solution: "Steep the tea leaves in a very small quantity of boiling water. A teaspoon of water will extract the strength from tea leaves exactly as well as a quart of water will. In short, make a quadruple extract—a very little liquor, but strong enough to hold up a warship. After it has steeped five to seven minutes, according to the grade of tea, pour the liquor off the leaves and dilute with cold water. Doubtless you keep a bottle of water always on the ice. It is just the right thing for this fresh tea. After that is added a very small piece of ice will suffice to bring the drink down to the required temperature, the tea is perfectly fresh and no law of economy has been violated."

Colors to Wear
In spite of advice to the contrary, blondes should avoid the lighter shades of blue, which make their complexions seem ashen. The darker shades, however, throw the complexion in high relief and are vastly becoming. True brunettes should not wear blue, which makes the skin yellower than ever, but florid brunettes can do so. Blondes may wear green, but not brunettes. Pale brunettes may wear any shade of red but crimson, which, however, looks well on the blonde. Yellow is the best color for pale brunettes, especially for evening wear. It clears the complexion and sets off the dark eyes and hair wonderfully.

Cherry Roll
Stem and pit one box of cherries, cover with one cupful of sugar, and let them stand until ready to use. Sift two cupfuls of flour with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one of sugar, and a quarter teaspoonful of salt; rub in two tablespoonfuls of butter and mix with two-thirds of a cupful of milk. Roll out into an oblong sheet a half inch thick, spread with butter, then drain the cherries, leaving all the juice for the sauce, lay the cherries upon the dough, sprinkle with two tablespoonfuls of sugar, roll up closely and pinch the ends that the juice may not escape. Place in a buttered pan and bake one-half hour. Add enough water to the reserved juice to make a cupful and a half of sauce, thicken with a teaspoonful of flour dissolved in a tablespoonful of cold water, stir in three level tablespoonfuls of sugar and boil for three minutes.

Fruit Sherbet
This can be made of fruit of any kind in season, or of canned fruit, and is most delicious and refreshing in warm weather. Take the juice of five lemons, mix with one quart of water and strain. Use half a gallon of strawberries, or whatever other fruit desired. Thoroughly wash one quart of berries and mix with one pint of water, and just enough sugar to make it dissolve well. Let it stand until thoroughly dissolved. Take the other quart of berries and cut into small pieces, and let this stand (without mixing with anything else) long enough for some of the juice to come from them. Then mix all together, lemon juice, fruit juice, and fruit, add another quart of water and two cups of sugar. Beat the white of one egg until stiff, and add a half cup of sugar to the egg. Stir all thoroughly together and freeze until hard.

Salad of '76
In making this salad the ingredients must be chopped separately and in the order given: One teaspoonful of onion chopped fine and measured after chopping, five good sized cold boiled potatoes, three hard boiled eggs chopped not too fine, and the crisp tender leaves of two heads of lettuce, leaving out enough of the inner leaves to line the salad bowl. Pour on a dressing made from the following recipe and mix gently with a silver fork: Yolks of two eggs, three-fourths of a cupful of sour cream, one teaspoonful of mixed mustard, half a teaspoonful of pepper, a teaspoonful of salt and half a cupful of the best vinegar. Mix thoroughly and cook in a double boiler. This dressing keeps well and this quantity is sufficient for two salads of the size given. Garnish with rings of the white of a hard boiled egg and disks cut from boiled beets.

SHE KNEW.
Mr. Jones—I thought you said you were going to Mrs. Brick's five o'clock this afternoon? It's after five now.
Mrs. Jones—There's no hurry. Her five o'clock tea isn't likely to be ready before seven. She's got the girl I used to have.

Leopard Cake
Light part: One and a half cups of white sugar, half cup of butter, half cup of sweet milk, two and a half cups of flour, whites of four eggs, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, lemon flavoring.
Dark part: One cup of brown sugar, half cup of molasses, half cup of butter, half cup of sweet milk, yolks of four eggs, two and a half cups of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Flavor with spices. Mix the two batters very lightly together as for a marble cake.

Cannon Crackers
Make a jelly roll, and after rolling carefully and when thoroughly cool put in at one end a piece of rather heavy twine, leaving about six inches exposed, and then around the outside of the same end wind a piece of white paper two inches wide, overlapping the ends a trifle, next roll the whole thing several times in white and then red tissue paper, finishing neatly on the under side. The result will be a delectable cannon cracker.

Caramel Ice Cream
Place two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch in a saucepan and add one quart of rich milk and let same come to a boil, stirring all the time. Then place in a double boiler and add one-half cupful of sugar which has been burned. Next beat two eggs with one cupful of sugar and add to the milk mixture. When it begins to thicken remove from the stove and cool. Add one pint of rich cream and one teaspoonful of vanilla and freeze.
